STUDENT LIFE

The students of Bethel have various opinions concerning all aspects of their daily lives, including: school spirit, extracurricular activities, fashions, hairstyles, and music. Ultimately, the students come together to make a different, but unique student body.

School spirit has always been somewhat of a tradition at Bethel. This is evident at pep rallies, football games, and other special events. Students show their support by displaying green and gold at school events.

The latest fashions are a must for today's teenagers, and Bethel students are no exception. These fashions are often obtained with money earned from the various after-school jobs that students maintain throughout the school year.

Weekends and holidays are a time when students take a break from the pressures of school. They can be seen cruising in their favorite cars or hanging out with their closest friends. Bethel students are extremely enthusiastic and can really put it together when it comes to having fun.

NEW FACES

The freshman orientation was held on Friday, September 1st, in the auditorium. The students were first showed around the school and introduced to the teachers and staff.

Mr. Bailey, our principal, explained his rules and expectations to the new class. To ease the anxiety and nervousness of the students, he then told a joke about a failure that had the whole audience laughing.

Tim Huff, a renouned member of the class of "90", and an avid sports fan, gave a presentation on the sports and other activities available at Bethel. Tim wore numerous articles of clothing, representing the various sports, including a very short but attractive skirt.

Vicki A. Pierce showed posters depicting the clothing freshmen were expected to wear this year. This included tank tops, headbands, tights, flip-flops, spiked bracelets, short shorts, and see-through shirts. The students were estatic! then, Mr. Bailey took the microphone and explained that Vicki was mistaken. These were things we couldn't wear. A loud moan erupted from the audience.

The class was dismissed at 11:00 AM. One of the best (and shortest) days we were to have for a long time.

BETWEEN CLASSES

The scenes between classes at Bethel are of hustle, bustle, and sometimes mania. The dismissal bell sounds, and students generally disperse to their lockers.

Laughing, talking, slamming lockers, and scurrying of feet are the sounds heard from students in the hallway.

Buzzing around trying to talk to friends, students gather their books, and remember assignments that are due in the next class, all at the same time.

Even though the tardy bell has already sounded, people sprint to their classes shouting last minute messages for the next time they will meet — BETWEEN CLASSES!

SPIRIT DAYS

Homecoming week '89 is more commonly known as spirit week. The week started out slow because many students were not aware of what the first few days were.

The first day was backwards day and very few students participated. Dress up day and Class day followed with a slightly better showing of school spirit. By thursday, which was Flashback day, things had really picked up. There were flower children, afros, butterfly collars, and outrageous polyester plaids.

As usual, the most popular day was Green and Gold day. The seniors had their T-shirts and the rest of the student body was decked out in their best green and gold.

Winning the football made spirit week a success despite the slow start.

SPIRIT DAYS

The days before the Hampton-Bethel game are always an eventful time for students of Bethel. Emotions are running high with thoughts of "you can crush a crab" on everyone's mind. Some feel the Hampton-Bethel game is more important than our Homecoming since the Crabbers are our biggest rival.

This year's Spirit Days started out with students dressing up in their favorite costumes for Halloween. The students had some original ideas and everyone that dressed up looked great. Next came tacky red and white day. As everyone knows Hampton's colors are red and white so the purpose of this day was to make Hampton look as inferior as possible.

By the time Friday came, many students had trouble concentrating on school work. They were dressed in their best green and gold, ready for the pep rally and the traditional mini-parade. Spirits soared as the students and faculty cheered on the varsity football team in hopes of a victory against Hampton.

HALFTIME ENTERTAINMENT

After the long, cold ride to Darling Stadium in convertible cars the Homecoming court went to the restroom to warm up under the hand dryers.

After fixing hair and makeup they were ready to present themselves. In the bleachers waiting for half-time to come the court sat on cold seats trying to keep warm.

When the band marched on the field and the Homecoming King, Michael Howe, and court were named, five girls waited to see if they were to become crowned Homecoming Queen 1989. When the announcer said Angie Joye was the queen everyone was happy for her. Angie said, "I was nervous when they called my name, and was also happy and surprised because I didn't think I was going to win." Homecoming was a success with a win of 20-14 over Phoebus.

PARADE '89

Our Homecoming officially began with the Homecoming Parade on Friday, October 20, 1989, at five o'clock p.m. The sun peeked out from behind the clouds and the temperature ranged in the mid-fifties.

The organization and preparation of Homecoming are two of the most important aspects of the entire event. Weeks before the big day, participants from each class volunteered their time after school to help put together floats which represent their class. Everyone's hard work paid off because the Bethel Homecoming Parade was a huge success!

Before the Homecoming Parade left Bethel, there was a contest held in the student parking lot to decide who had the best float. The senior class was victorious and took first place.

Students and administrators busily tied up loose ends to get the parade successfully underway. The cars that had been entered in the parade looked truly Bruin-spirited. Everyone was excited and ready to drive to Darling Stadium for the big game!

ELECTRIFYING NIGHT

Homecoming Dance '89 turned out to be a success despite the second-rate showing of support by the student body.

Many of the students were divided in their opinions on the decision to have a semiformal dance. Although many people were in favor or the idea, others would have preferred a casual dance. It is hard to say whether or not this decision helped or hurt attendance since Bethel dances, with the exception of the Junior Ring Dance and the Senior Prom, have not been too successful in the past. However, most of the students that attended the Homecoming Dance enjoyed themselves. This was evident in the number of students that danced from the start of the dance at 8:00 p.m. until it ended at 11:00 p.m.

Tia Harris, chairperson of the dance, said "I think the dance went very well. Many students didn't want a semi-formal Homecoming dance, but with the turnout we had, I'd say the dance was very successful."

CAFETERIA CUISINE

Milk does a body good!

As lunchtime begins many students run frantically to the cafeteria trying to avoid the long lunch lines which abound daily. Whether it's for a bag lunch, salad, or any of the other four lunch lines available to students, there are always those who rush from class to try and get to the cafeteria before anyone else.

For some students lunch isn't always a time to eat. Many prefer to catch up on homework not done the night before or to do some last minute studying for an upcoming test.

Students can be found scattered throughout various parts of the school building besides the cafeteria. Many prefer the quietness of the library while others are just as happy meeting in the halls with their friends. When the weather is nice it's not hard to find students in the front courtyard enjoying a break from the seemingly endless classrooms in school.

According to some students, a break from class wouldn't be complete without catching up on the latest gossip. For many students lunch is the only chance to meet with some friends and there never seems to be enough time for that. Before the students know it lunch break is over and they must hurry to their next class.

You say it's your birthday!

You are what you eat.
Senior Sean Pepe prefers two milks with his school lunch.

UNIQUE HAIRSTYLES

Oh! How the times have changed. Over the years we have seen many styles from short to long, straight to curly. Now anything goes, even these many unique hairstyles. Some people may think that our generation uses its hair to atttract attention. This may be true, but most teenagers do it to express their personalities and to separate themselves as individuals.

Throughout the 80's and now the 90's hairstyles will be known among teenagers as a freedom of expression.

These styles are becoming more unique each year. Some of the things people use to keep their hair in place is using gel, mousse, hair spray, and even spray starch.

Over the past several years Bethel students' generosity have brought a new outlook for those who are less fortunate. This year's Christmas Fund started on December 13 and ended on December 21. During this time the students were able to raise $6,600. Nine organizations were chosen, to which the money would be distributed. On December 22 an assembly was held to award the donations to the various organizations. They include Childrens Hospital of the King's Daughters, The Peninsula Leukemia Society, Ronald McDonald House, American Red Cross, and several others. Once again Bethel showed its caring and concern for its surrounding neighbors.

WORKING AFTER SCHOOL

After shcool jobs seem to be popular among Bethel students. A poll taken earlier in the year showed that over half of the students at Bethel hold a job somewhere. They work at fast food restaurants, grocery and retail stores, athletic shops, business offices, auto shops, construction sites, and many other places too.

There are many reasons why students work. Most students work to have extra money for their entertainment. Eating out, going to the movies, bowling, and other fun activities can really add up! Other reasons may include helping their family financially, buying their own clothes, or extra funds for college.

Students lucky enough to drive a car may have even more responsibilities. The fun and freedom of a car can also come with the expenses of automobile insurance, gas maintenance, and inspection.

Overall, students seem to have a growing need for money in the 90's. And they are showing responsibility and satisfying this need by obtaining a job.

T.G.I.F. This thought is on the minds of many students once Friday arrives. Whether it's a date with that one special person or just getting together with friends, students spend their weekends in many various ways.

Dating is, perhaps, one of the biggest parts of a teenager's social life. Bethel students have many opinions on whether or not they should date only one person seriously or date different people at one time. Senior Diana Balderson says "It depends on the person whether or not they have a serious relationship or go out with different people."

Besides dating, students may also be found, on a weekend night, cruising around the city or getting together over a friend's house.

Putt-Putt used to be the place to be on a Friday or Saturday night, but now it seems as though Taco Bell has taken over as a place to hang out on the weekends. Whether it's to eat or meet friends it's never hard to find carloads of students gathered together there on weekend nights.

Movies are very popular among teenagers today and there are several movie theaters around the area which are frequently visited be students at Bethel. The most popular is the 99¢ Riverdale theater. It offers students current movies at a low price. Renting movies from local video stores allows students to watch their favorite movies in their own home.

The mall is usually a last resort when there isn't anything else to do on a Friday or Saturday night. However, most students agree that they would rather cruise around in their cars before going to the mall.

Junior Regina Elliot and friends try to hypnotize Crystal Burger.

What are you doing in here?
Senior Diana Balderson wonders this as she sees the cat in a store she was shopping in on a recent trip to New York.

Weekends also allow students to pursue hobbies or take quick vacations. From surfing at the beach to sking the slopes, students do it all.

Surfers can be found all along the East Coast, from VA Beach to Cape Hatteras. Wintergreen, Snowshoe, and Sevin Springs are popular among the skiers.

Skateboarding is also very popular among students. Skaters can be found all around the city, skating their way from one place to another or practicing new moves on their board.

Malls are always crowded during the weekends and it's easy to find students from Bethel spending their day, and their money, shopping at the various malls in our area.

Whatever students do on weekends they all agree that they bring about a much needed break from the pressures school can cause.

SEEING DOUBLE

When you are going down the hall and see someone whom you think you have just seen, you may think you are seeing double, but you have only see a set of twins. Many twins have participated in a "twin study" in Richmond, Virginia. This study indicated that Gail and Lilly Dixon are 96% alike and that Michelle and Victoria Wagaman are 97.6% alike. Victoria said: "If I didn't have my twin sister for my best friend, I wouldn't make it through the difficult times." Brian Harley said: "I don't always like being a twin because people are constantly getting Sean and me confussed, but on the other hand, we get along well." Sean Harley said: "I like being a twin because Brian is my best friend and I can talk to him when I am upset." Overall, the twins pictured have agreed that they wouldn't trade their twin for the world, and it is apparent that twins do share a special bond.

MOONLIGHTING STARS

Dramatic, exciting, suspenseful from beginning to end, the 1990 B.H.S. pageant kept us begging for more. The talent ranged from singing, dancing, and a new twist to rapping.

The male contestants modeled tuxedos from The Formal House and the female contestants modeled dresses from JC. Penney. Presented to each contestant were long stem roses, some of which were thrown to screaming admirers.

Each contestant was judged by his talent and modeling ability, which captivated the judges and audience.

All was quiet as the pageant drew to an end. With clenched hands and a quick word with God, the thirteen anxious contestants watched the curtains draw back. The 1st runner-up for the girls was Amy McGinnis who danced lyrical jazz to "Wind Beneath My Wings". First runner-up for boys was Troy Williams who sang. The big moment arrived. Floodlights raced up and down the last contestants. Whispers came to a steady halt and so did breathing. "The winners are Tia Harris and Jai Jackson". The silence was broken with screams and tears of joy, hugs and kisses from friends and family.

As the night came to a close and heartbeats resumed, February 28, 1990 both sadly and excitedly came to an end.

"If for only one night", this was the theme for the ringdance, and what a night it was. The evening started out with dinner. Couples dined at places such as the Whaling Company and Fisherman's Wharf, among other places. Then it was off to the dance. They arrived at the dance and found a dark room lighted by candles surrounding the dance floor. The decorating committee did an excellent job in creating the perfect atmosphere; as the night went on it only got better.

Ron Hendrick, the DJ, played a varied selection of music. Some favorites were the Electric Boogie, many people joined in to do the electric slide; as Pump Up the Jam played, white smoke filled the room along with flickering lights. The visual effects were great and added a big part to make the dance unique. Kristen Bennett commented "It's better than last year; we're here with all our friends sharing something special."

The highlight of the evening was when the juniors received their class rings. Each junior was called individually to be escorted by their date to receive their ring. Rings of all sorts and sizes were being turned and showed to friends. The evening came to a closing with a few more slow songs, one of which was the theme song by Luther VanDross entitled Here and Now. Emotions filled the room as the music played. Terry Williams replied "I think it's romantic," when asked what he thought about the ringdance.

As people left, many took with them souveniers such as napkins, cups and balloons. "A big event like this brings a lot of people together, and I think that's what the junior class needs — more unity." To conclude, the dance was mostly what you made of it; but overall it was a big success.

ACADEMICS

At Bethel High School, the pieces center around one common focal point — academics. Students involved in learning, that's what academics is all about. Bethel is known for its academic excellence because the students have learned to put it all together and earn top grades.

SCHOOL AWAY FROM SCHOOL

Many students from Bethel attend New Horizons each day as a part of their education. New Horizons is a regional Technical Center that offers secondary vocational science and technology courses, adult apprenticeship, and community interest evening courses. Students are offered vocational and technology courses under the categories of Building Technology, Automotive Technology, Human Services, and Metal Technology. The New Horizans' Governor's School of Science and Technology allows students to receive instructions both from the governor's school and their original school. These students attend Governor's School for two hours a day in addition to five hours per week in a mentorship program in local academic, research, and professional environments. These students return to their own schools after two hours and spend the rest of the day attending required courses such as English and Social Studies.

SURF, SAND AND STUDY

Oceanography, a new course added to Bethel's science curriculum, caught the interest of many students this year. The course is taught by Mr. Brandt and is designed for average to above average students.

Oceanography includes the study of the biology, geology, chemistry, and physics of the ocean. About a quarter of a year is spent on each of those four topics. Senior Robert York says, "The class is very interesting in the environmental sense."

Included in the oceanography program are field trips to local museums, to universities, and the ocean. There are also guest speakers that come to the classroom to speak to the students. The speakers are from the Virginia Living Museum, the Virginia Institute of Marine Science, and the Virginia Marine Science Museum. From these informative trips and appearances from guest speakers, the students are required to prepare an original research paper.

Mr. Brandt hopes for many things concerning the Oceanography program. He expresses a wish for more oceanography classes and for more teachers to teach the class other than himself. He would also like to have an aquarium for each lab table in the program as there has been some success with the larger ones he already has.

In the tanks the class has been able to maintain some underwater animals and plants such as sea anemones, sea squirts, pipe fish, crabs. Senior Kristina Porter says, "It's a terrific class as long as you don't mind wading around in the ocean with a dress on!"

Junior Amy Marshall can't decide whether to laugh or cry over her grade in Mrs. Bierwirth's chemistry class.

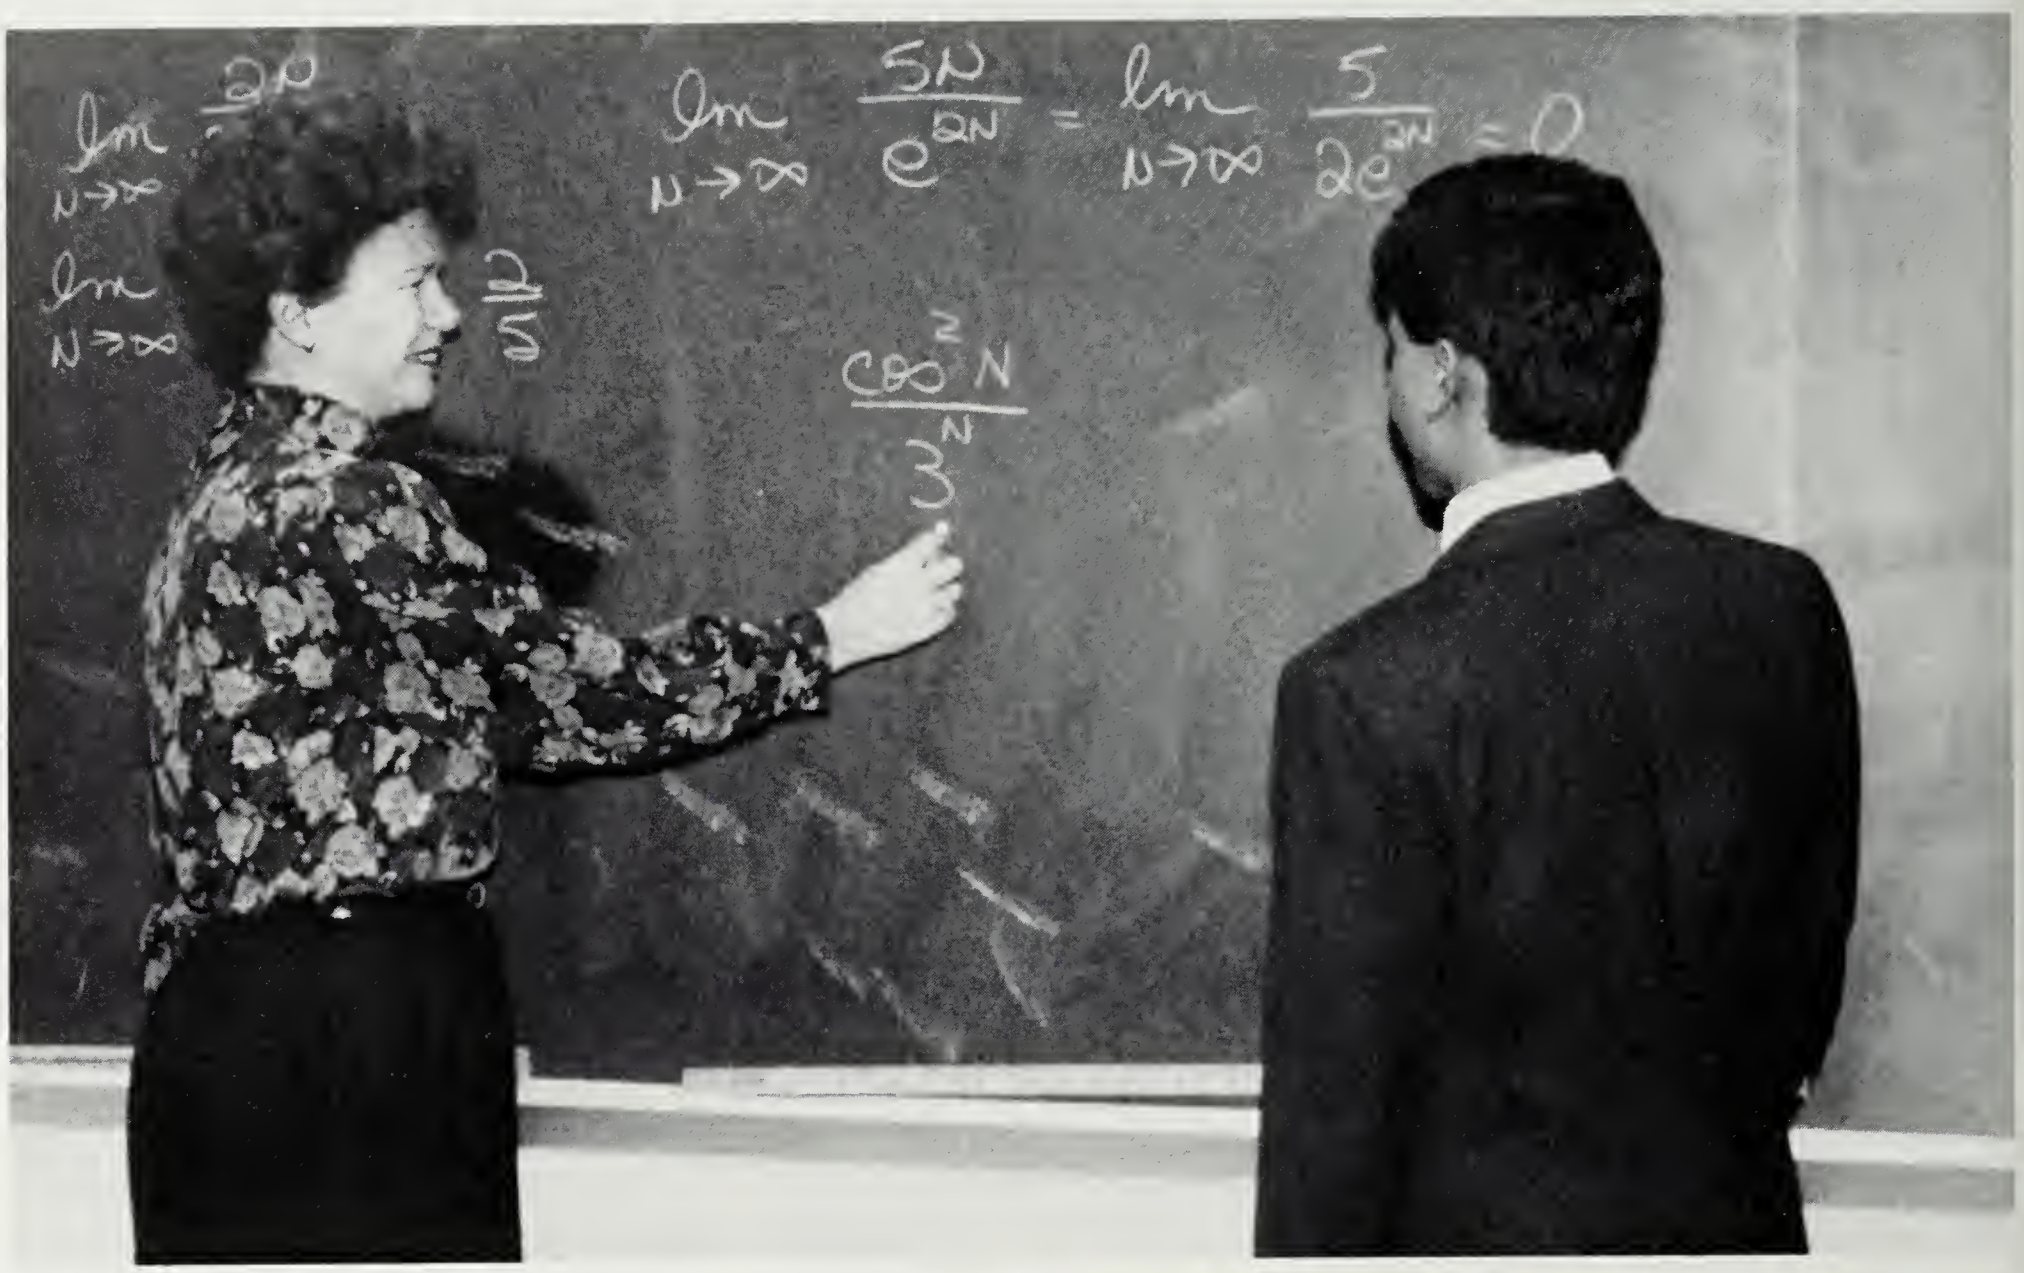
Hath thou open ears?



We've come a long way from 1 + 1=2. Now, as high school students, we are faced with Pre-Algebra, Algebra, Algebra II, Geometry, Trig, Pre-Cal, and Calculus. Computers have also hit the scene with Comp-Math and Science.

All grade levels take all levels of math. College bound Seniors, especially pile on the higher courses of math.

"Calculus is pretty easy, it's the stupid Algebra mistakes that get to me," says Senior Cary Loser. Cary Loser and other students take Trigonometry and above participated in the National Math Exam this year. Senior Jennifer Brooks scored the highest of the Bethel students.

Although most of us moan and groan everytime we think of math, it is a vital part to the technology of our future.

Do we really have to do this? Two heads are better than one. As Richard Lee and Horace Combs show it may take two people to work one math problem.

What's Bruin In Home Economics

When one hears the word Home Economics one usually think of cooking, sewing, and other domestic chores. However, personal growth, vacational preparation and school service are some of the skills learned from participating in a Home Ec. class.

Historically women have done the household chores, but as women seek executive careers these chores are being shared by men. Home Ec. classes help prepare boys for this new task.

The core curriculum in Home Ec. classes are such topics as child abuse, child development, food preparation, diet and nutrition and clothing construction and personal grooming.

Future Homemakers of America (FHA) is a Home Ec. related club for students interested in domestic affairs. FHA's objective is to prepare students to be skilled homemakers of the future.

When students take a Home Ec. course, whether male or female, they will learn more skills than just how to prepare a dish. As junior Lily Dixon said, "I think people should take Home Ec. because it does teach you some tips that you don't just know from cleaning the house and sewing."

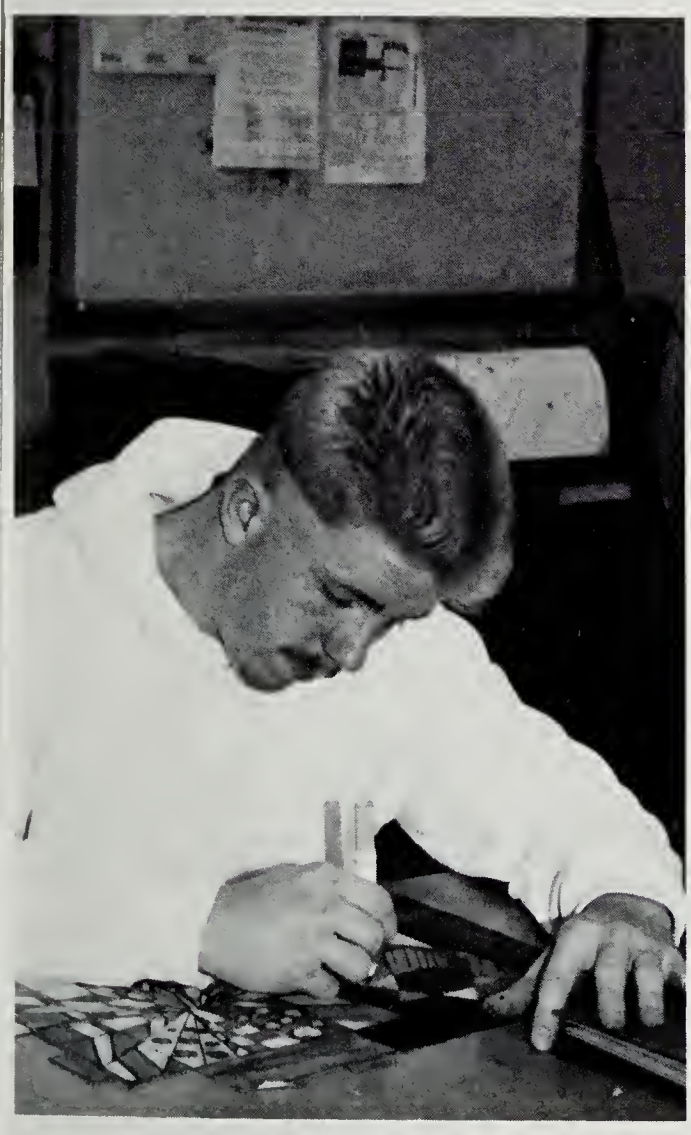
Award Winning Poster.
Governor Baliles presents Cathy Mulligan a certificate for her poster.

CREATIVITY

Art classes are taught by two talented teachers — Mr. Sills and Mrs. Eames. There are courses such as Basic Design and Mixed Media. The students' works are displayed on the Science Hall. As you look at their work, you can see the time, effort, and creativity that the students put into their projects. Eric Cruz, who was named the most creative in the senior class was asked what he thought about art. He replied "Art is about living, love, anger, and experience about life. Art has always been an expression of what a certain period of time means to a certain person. Overall I think art is an individual's expression of life in itself."



Just Right.

Expert Advice.
Mrs. Eames gives junior Shawn Logan some helpful hints with his work.

Look at it go!
Felicia Austin watches as her badmitton partner hits the birdie over the net.

Like it or not everyone is required to take two years of Health and Physical Education in order to graduate from high school.

Students participate in and learn about many sports throughout the years. These sports include tennis, softball, volleyball, and basketball.

There are many differences of opinions on whether physical education should be a mandatory course or an elective. Sophomore Millie Horne said, "I don't mind Health and Physical Education that much. In fact, I usually have fun, but this year both classes are tough."

Most students taking the class are either freshmen or sophomores. Freshmen must take a full semester of health and a full semester of P.E. Sophomores take nine weeks of Health, nine weeks of Driver's Education, and a full semester of P.E.

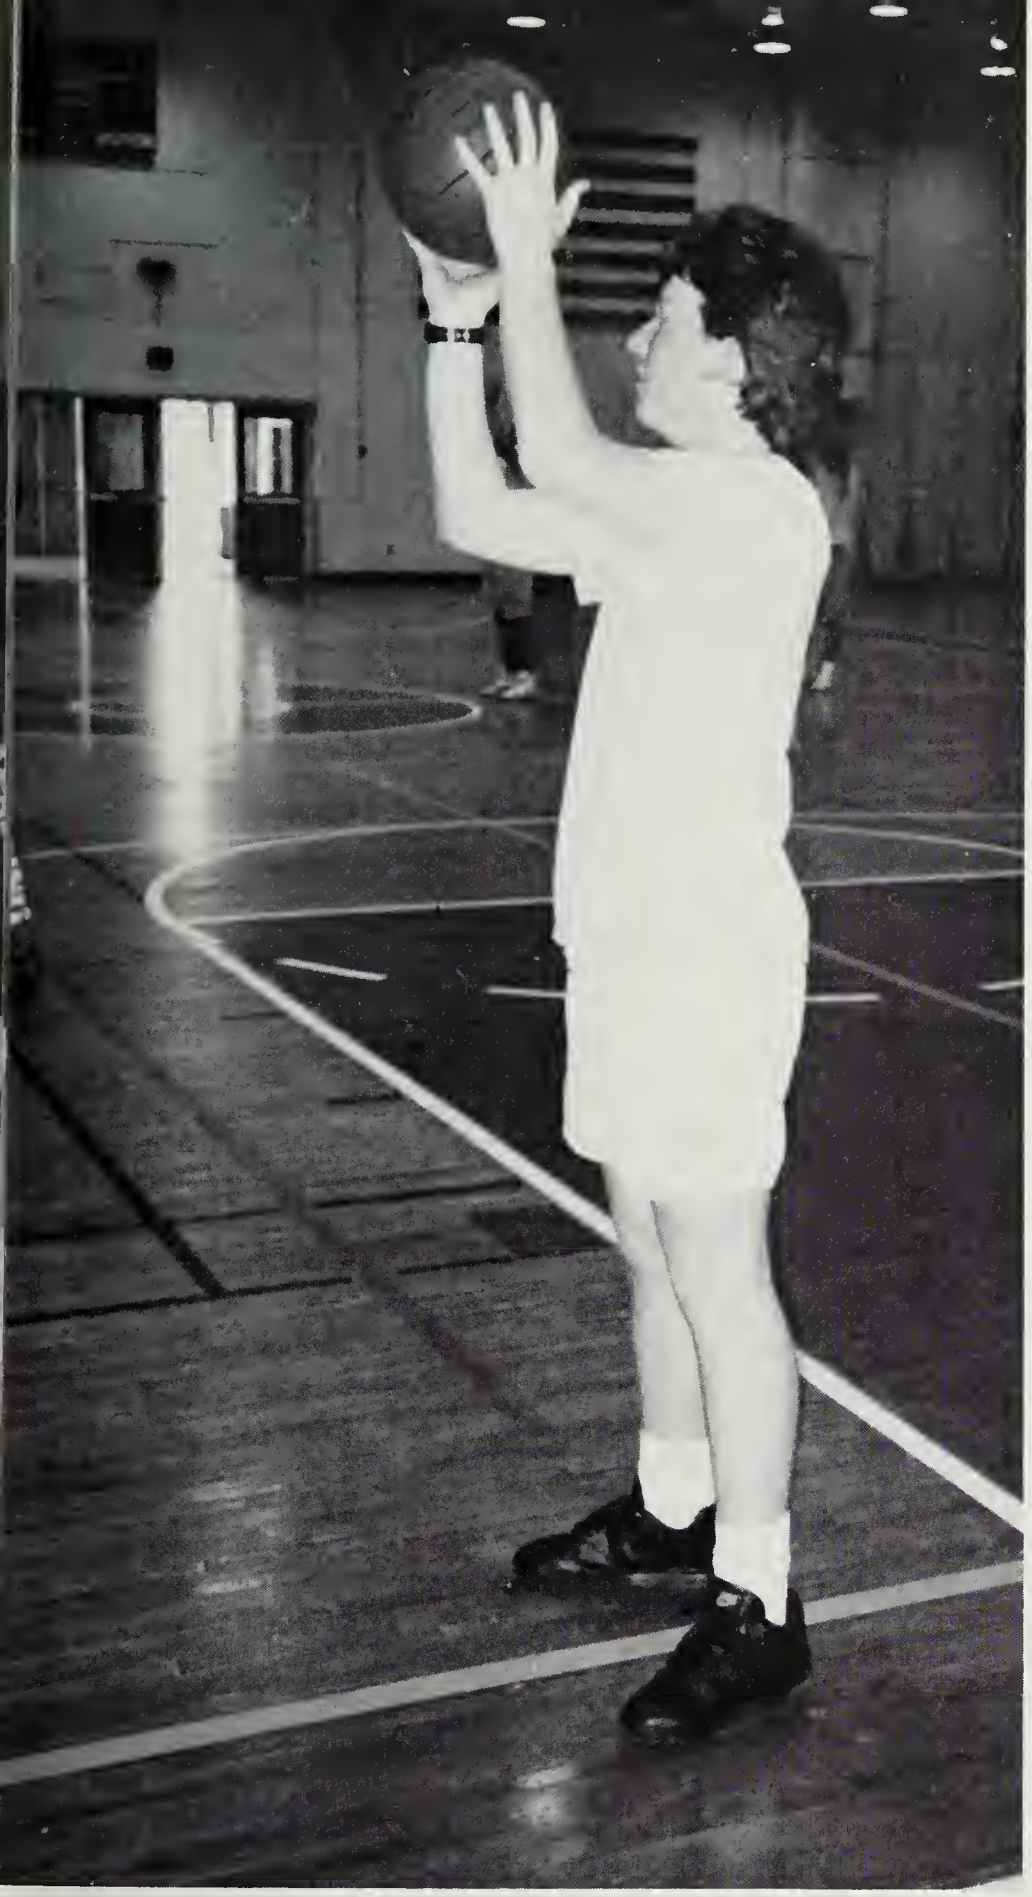
Health classes provide students with useful information on first aid, alcohol and drug abuse, and personal survival, plus many more informational topics.

Sophomores enjoy the Driver's Ed. course. It teaches them the rules of the road and prepares them for the priviledge of driving.

Contrary to what many students would like to believe Health and P.E. will continue to be a mandatory class because it gets students involved in sports, who otherwise wouldn't, and makes them more aware of their health and their surrounding environment.

Is this where my fingers go?
This student trys to figure out where to place her fingers on the basketball.

Basketball Drills.
Students await their teacher's okay in order to practice basketball drills.



Perfect form!
Mike Macully displays this form while playing basketball.

Flying high.

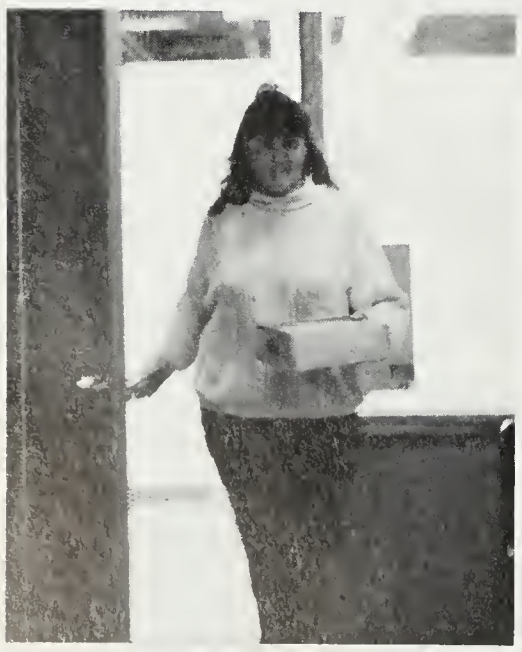
Stretch!
Janel Johnson warms up with a few exercises before class starts.

Working In The Business World

Business courses often give a student their first inside view of the business world. These courses help students become familiar with business terms, the way a business operates, the skills need to be successful in the business world, and much more. In a way it's a passage between school and the real world of business.

Distributive Education Club of America (Deca) or Cooperative Education (COE) are clubs designed to help develop students interest in business. COE allows students to receive actual on the job training of up to 360 hours towards their academic grade.

Of all the business courses there are two popular ones amongst students; Fashion Merchanding and Marketing. In both of these courses students learn how to approach customers, forfill the needs and wants of a customer, selling techniques, and how to dress for a job interview, fill out job applications and work a cash register.



Ready, Set, Go ...
Senior Tonya Fur is prepared to enter the "real world" of business, thanks to COE.

Practice Makes Perfect

Listening To Ones Elders

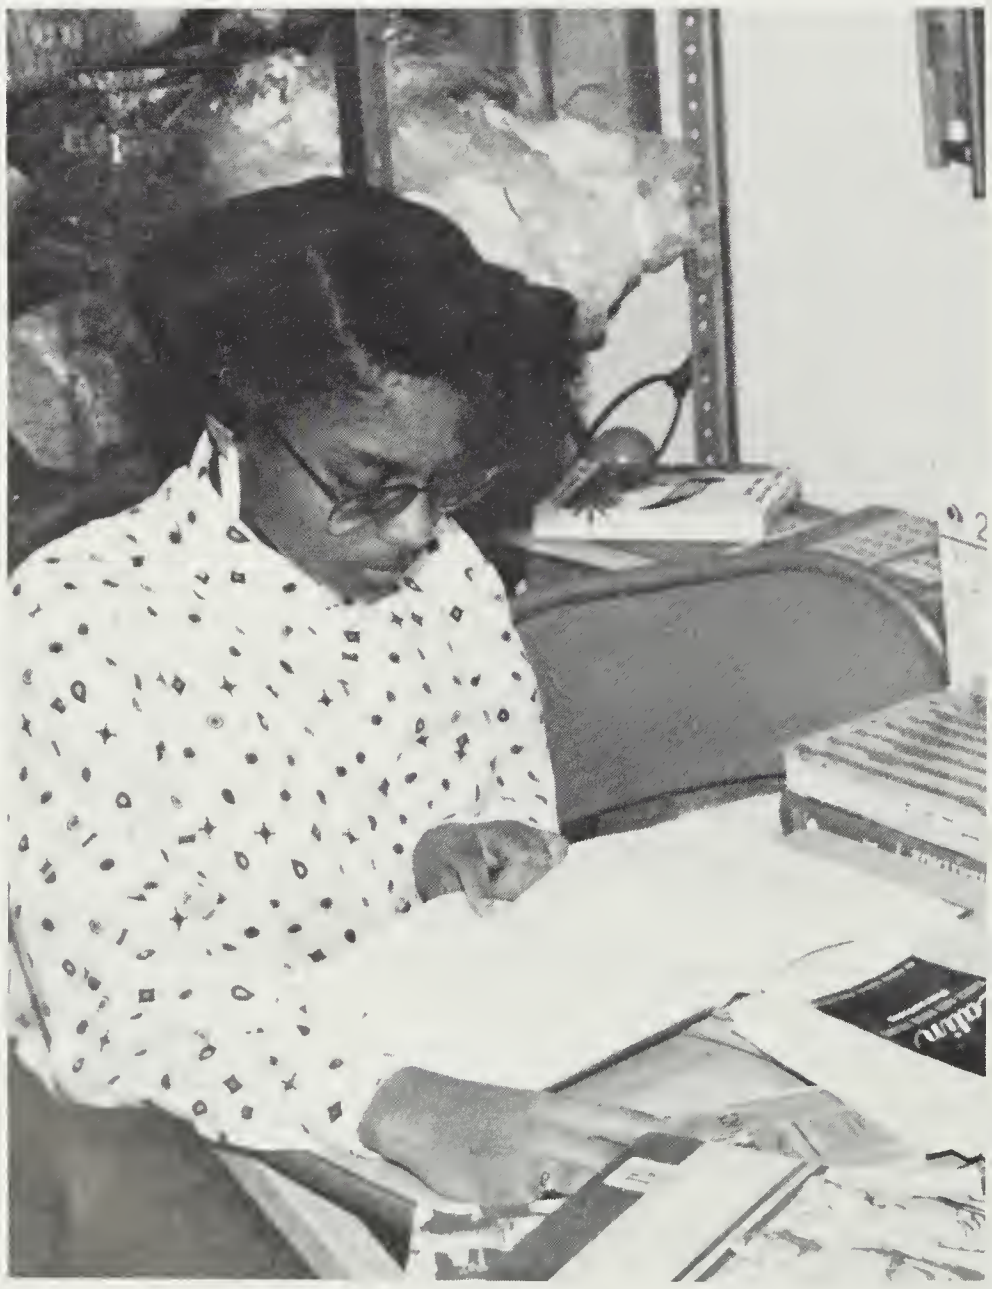
A DIFFERENT WORLD

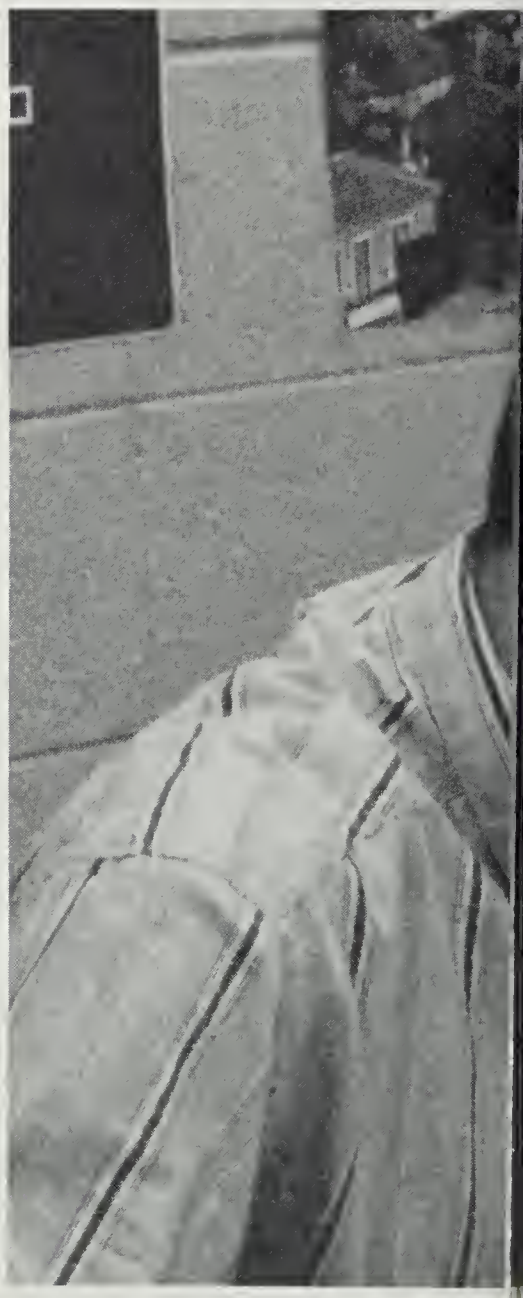
It's your worst nightmare! Imagine yourself in another country where everyone speaks in a different tongue. You don't know a soul and you don't speak a word other than English. For some, taking a foreign language feels the same way.

At times, students feel as though they have stepped into a different society, a different dimension, as they step into the room of a foreign language class. The teacher is rambling on about some chico named Paco while one fourth of the class snores, one fourth of the class nods, blurting out a "si" or "oui," and one half just stares into space with a bewildered expression upon their faces.

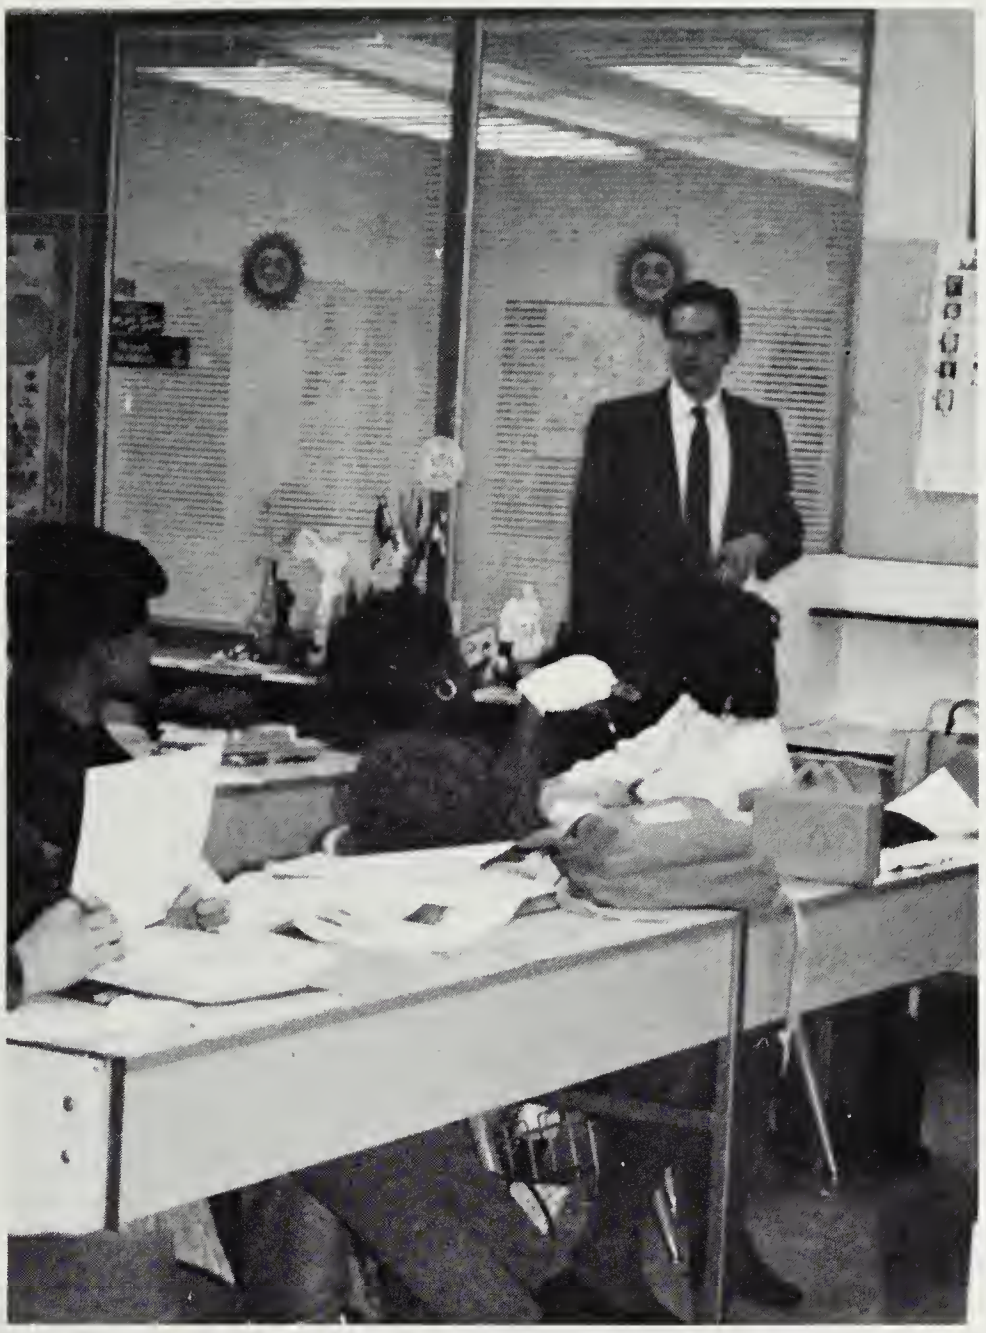


Michelle Starlett studies and works hard to prepare for an upcoming test.

Shannon Grant is describing the newest fashion of bleached letters on jeans to her fashion class.

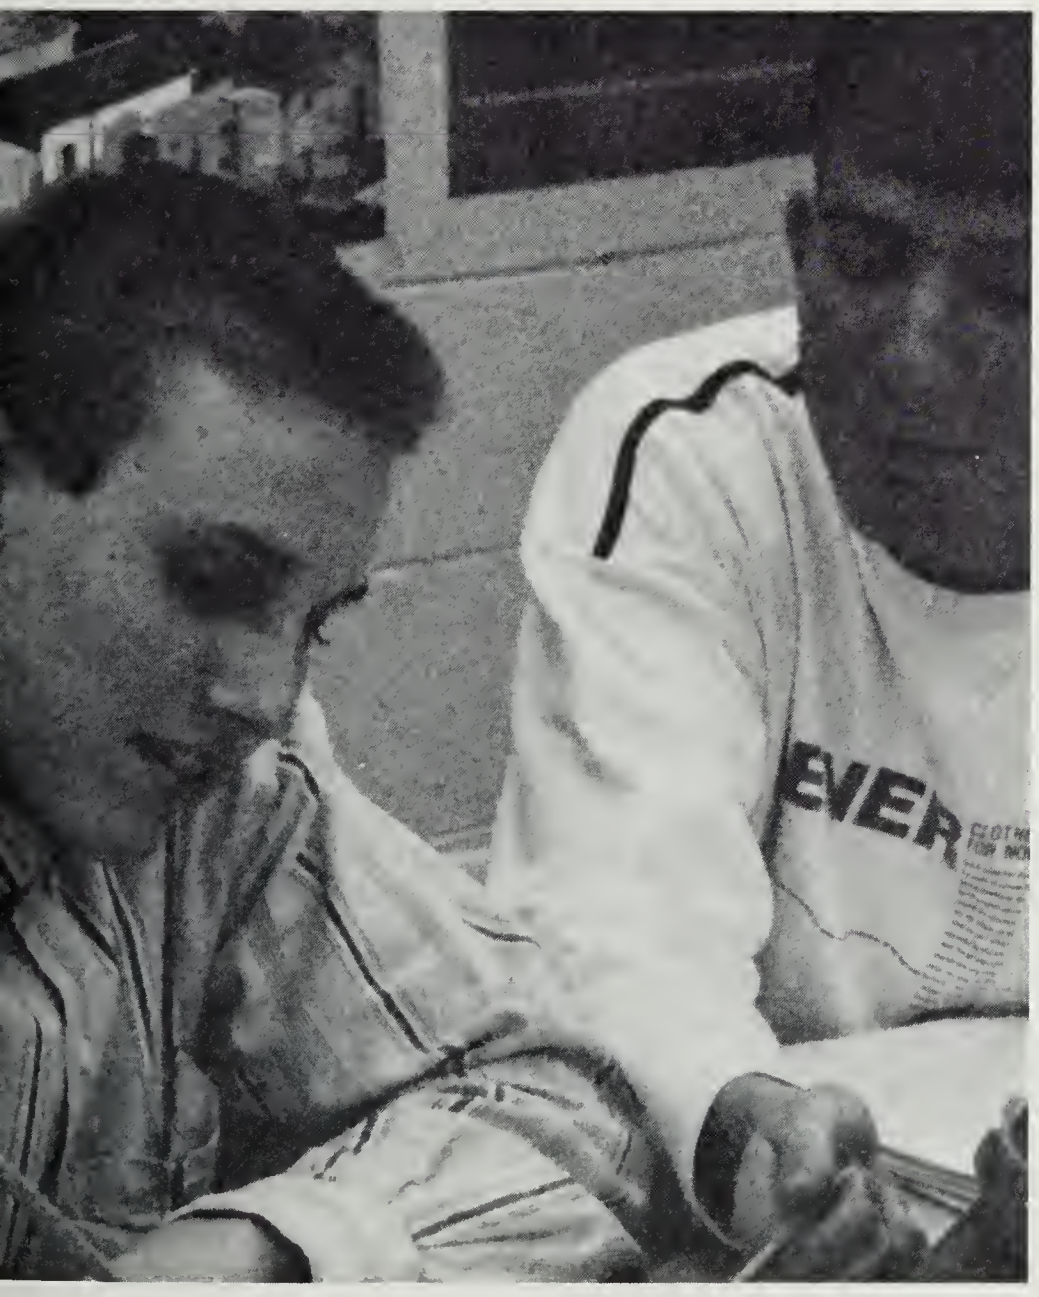


Senior Tanja Belt and Mrs. Phalin are showing and describing a flapper outfit of the 1920's.



Mr. Oliver is telling the do's and don'ts of the Latin language.

Tonya Williams, Tonya Ward, Shannon Grant, and Aimee Lucido are talking about a speech just given about fashion.



Scott Spinner and Jack Daszkowski talk about a Latin assignment just given.

PEOPLE

People are the most important part of Bethel High School. They determine who we are and where we're going.

Each person has the freedom to express themselves individually at Bethel High School. When you put it all together, the students, teachers, and administrators are unified to make Bethel great. Success comes from unity without uniformity. Each person is different, but at Bethel we all find a way to unite.

SPORTS

Sports are an important part of life at Bethel High School. The sports are as varied and unique as the students who participate in them. From softball to golf and from football to swimming, each sport, fits together to make Bethel's athletic department, which reaches new heights of excellence every year.

GOLF

A Stroke Of Luck

Whoosh! With one swing the ball is sent sailing towards the cup. That swing requires a remarkable amount of skill and accuracy in order to position the ball as close to the hole as possible. From there, care must be taken in selecting the right club, as well as in judging the amount of force to put behind the swing. Something also to take into consideration, while preparing to putt, is the present weather conditions. While wind may not interfere as much with other sports, it plays a large part in golf. A ball may slice to the left or right, or suddenly fall short if taken by an untimely gust of wind. Wet grounds might cause the ball to slow down. A player must also stay clear of water hazards and sand traps. These are just some of the things with which a golfer is forced to contend. Whether or not those people who signed up knew the difficulties involved, or if they just wanted to have fun as, sophomore, Chris Mabe did, twenty seven showed enough interest to go out for the team. Mr. Ray Ellenson, coach of the team, said that prospective players had to play (try out) before qualifying for the team. Of the twenty seven that signed up, those with the thirteen lowest scores made the team. As the season progressed the team realized their favorite course was Fords Colony.

At the end of the season the team finished sixth overall and sent one member, junior Josh Gwinn, to the regionals.

Mind over Matter.
Junior Chris Harris concentrates as he prepares to sink a putt.

ROSS COUNTRY

Building Blocks To The Future

Building endurance, lung capacity, and muscle tone, cross country is a sport often used as a stepping stone towards a better future in other sports. However, for long distance running, one needs to give one hundred percent total dedication. Though finishing their season with a boys' record of 1 and 5 and a girl's record of 2 and 4, our cross country team has displayed this dedication and more. You might be wondering how this can be said when they didn't have a "winning season". Well, you'd have to consider the conditions under which our team began this season. Having lost many of their experienced runners, they began this year's season with a fresh bunch of grapes, which might be great for some things, but for running it helps to have a little wisdom from experience tucked underneath your belt. Our cross country bruins weren't able to participate in the big invitationals this year. This was most likely a handicap to our team since it would have presented them with the chance to build up their experience and to size up their opponents. Sophomore, Leslie Walters, used her second season's experience to finish third in the Hampton City meet, thirteenth in districts and then go to Regionals obtaining a remarkable forty-eight out of ninety-eight varsity girls. Leslie shares her season's success with her teammate, Kim Walls, who brought in a thirteenth place finish in the city meet.

Overall our Cross Country team gave an exceptional performance for all of its inexperience and looks at this year as their foundation for next year's promise.

TENNIS

Serving It Up

Love — 40! Nice shot! Great spin. These are just some of the things that you can hear when tennis season rolls around. That's the time of year when those who play tennis prepare to play. Tennis rackets and balls are found and physical preparations are made.

Endurance is built up by running or performing other physical activities because some matches may be played for hours. Also, matches are played so that one may get practice.

Sophomore, Carter Ficklen, says "Everyone needs to play during the off-season and try to participate in tournaments and clinics." These need to be done to ensure improvement in the players. The boys tennis team finished the season with a 2-6 record. This doesn't seem to bother sophomore Thien Khuu, since he feels that the team played well, despite their record, having lost some real close matches. Hoping for an improved season this year, senior, Thomas Jones, states, "Having players who are dedicated and who want to play would lead to a better year." So as this tennis season ends and a new one begins, hopes are high that this will be a more exciting and better year for everyone.

WORKING UP A SWEAT

School begins and the girls' tennis team has been working up a sweat. They are all set for the challenge set before them.

This year they overcame one of their major challenges, which was beating Hampton. Ms. Ottaway feels that beating Hampton was the highlight of the season. The record for the season was 4-4. One of the team members, junior, Beth Godsey, was quoted as saying, "This year the team did better, because everyone was closer friends.

Sophomore, Jill Daszkowski, junior, Amy Marshall and, sophomore, Tamisha Williams all went to districts this year. Two of the doubles teams also went. Everyone on the team thanks Ms. Ottaway for helping them and being a great coach, for this was Ms. Ottaway's last year as a tennis coach at Bethel. She has coached at Bethel for 13 years, not only is the gratitude from this year's players, but from years past, also.

VARSITY FOOTBALL

The Comeback Pack

For the Bruin fans and especially the Varsity football players, the 1989-90 season was exciting and amazing. The Bruins' fantastic playing resulted in a number four position in district. The Bruins can be proud of their players, for their hard work and determination paid off.

"Beating Phoebus for homecoming was the highlight of the season," according to manager, junior, Deneige McVicker. The Bruin homecoming was celebrated with a victory after a two slump. The final four minute rally added zeal to the night for the Bruin spectators.

From the view of, junior, wide-receiver, Rodney Bowens, "We achieved more than we were expected to." The odds were against the Bruin team from the beginning but they proved the statistics wrong.

"We had to believe we were better than the press made us seem," said sophomore, line-backer, Kelly Gardner. The press was against the Bruins, but they overlooked it and moved on to outshining the opposition.

To senior, Craig Rainey, "We blended our talents together to make the team the best we could get it." He believes that team work made the difference. Through the interlocking of talents and the connecting of football techniques, the football team reached great heights.

For those of us who call ourselves "true Bruins," we can be pleased with the outcome of our 89-90 season. Its not often a team fights so hard against all odds, all opposition, and all the pressures and shines so brightly.

OOTBALL
Koz And Effect

"My biggest goals were, of course, winning the championship and helping the young people develop," says Coach Dennis Kozlowski, called "Koz" by the students of Bethel. Coach Koz is the varsity football coach. He has worked hard for many years to make our varsity football team the best it could be. Koz described this season as "impressive, but win consistency was a problem." He feels that the inconsistency made it hard for the team to be 100% confident in each game.

Coach Koz feels that the effect Bethel had this year was great. The success of the 1989-90 Bruins is something to be proud of. The extreme dedication of Coach Koz, as not only our varsity football coach, but also as indoor-/outdoor track coach and overall Athletic Director, is appreciated by Bethel High School. Koz's coaching techniques are definitely something special. Koz not only coaches his sports, he also teaches his teams lessons of life and attempts to mold his athletes into fine young people. Koz's caring attitude isn't reserved for the track or the football field. He also carries it into his teams academic life. Koz has a positive effect on Bethel High School.

U. FOOTBALL
Adding It Together

Often the success of our junior varsity teams are overlooked for all the dirt and dust they accumulate in the trail of our varsity teams' performances. However, it shouldn't be forgotten that the players of our J.V. teams are the future of Bethel varsity sports. The 1989-90 Junior Varsity football team has proven it wants to be the up-and-coming star of Bethel future.

This J.V. team survived the rough football routine and came out on top. Beginning their season were the grueling two-a-day summer practices, where, day and night, the grunting and groaning of a tough workout in merciless heat could be heard. As the season progressed, and the school year began, the players were faced with a new challenge — academics. Balancing the equation for good academics and a commendable athletic performance, while making time to work outside jobs and catch a few Z's here and there can be tough on any athlete. Yet the Junior Varsity teamed worked it out and came up with the right answer — a second place finish in the Penninsula District!

So, with such a victorious season for our junior varsity football team, the future of Bethel's football is looking good!

HEERLEADING

Loud And Cheer

Is school spirit, key football games, or other major sports teams overlooked? Of course not. So why overlook the hard work, physical and mental strength cheerleaders possess? "There is more to it than having a shape so you look good in a short skirt," according to Pam Cotman. Physical and mental endurance is a major part. A cheerleader must contain trust in other cheerleaders and the ability to express an enthusiastic attitude.

The smiles and works of cheerleaders is many times overlooked. Behind the perfected routines, stunts, and cheers are the many hours of practice. Cheerleaders sweat it out. They do and re-do until, finally, perfection.

Safety is number one. Cheerleaders and their coaches put great emphasis on the safety in stunts. They always make sure the risk is to the minimal level. Cheerleaders don't quit after wrestling season. Cheerleading is year round. They always practice, no matter the season. From spring tryouts to the beginning of baseball season, cheerleaders are hard at work.

The next time sports are acknowledged, don't forget the importance of the cheerleaders. Their smiles, hard work, and endurance should not be overlooked. Cheerleading is a major, full-time sport.

HEERLEADING

Shout It Out!

Let's go Bruins! Go green and gold! These are just a couple of the sayings JV cheerleaders do not forget. JV cheerleaders work hard to be just as good as Varsity cheerleaders.

JV cheerleaders enter their season not very experienced at the cheerleading style. They work throughout the year to make their knowledge and ability stronger. They try to learn the harder stunts or routines to prepare themselves for Varsity.

As the season progresses, JV cheerleaders began to perform as if they are Varsity already. They are challenged by their coach Susan Bailey to keep up the hard work and determination for future accomplishments. During the course of the year, the JV team has overcome one major stepping stone. They are now allowed to compete in cheerleading competitions all over the state. Through petitions and cheerleader struggle, this was made possible.

Although JV cheerleaders are not the best yet, it does not keep them from trying. They practice just as hard and they never give up. They have confidence that they are the best already!

Ready, set, cheer! Crystal Burger, Regina Elliot, Delcenia Turnstall, and Jody Oden demonstrate a Bruin cheer.

Moving on up! Delcenia Turnstall, and Nicole Callaway help Jody Oden into a stunt, called the chair.

SWIMMING

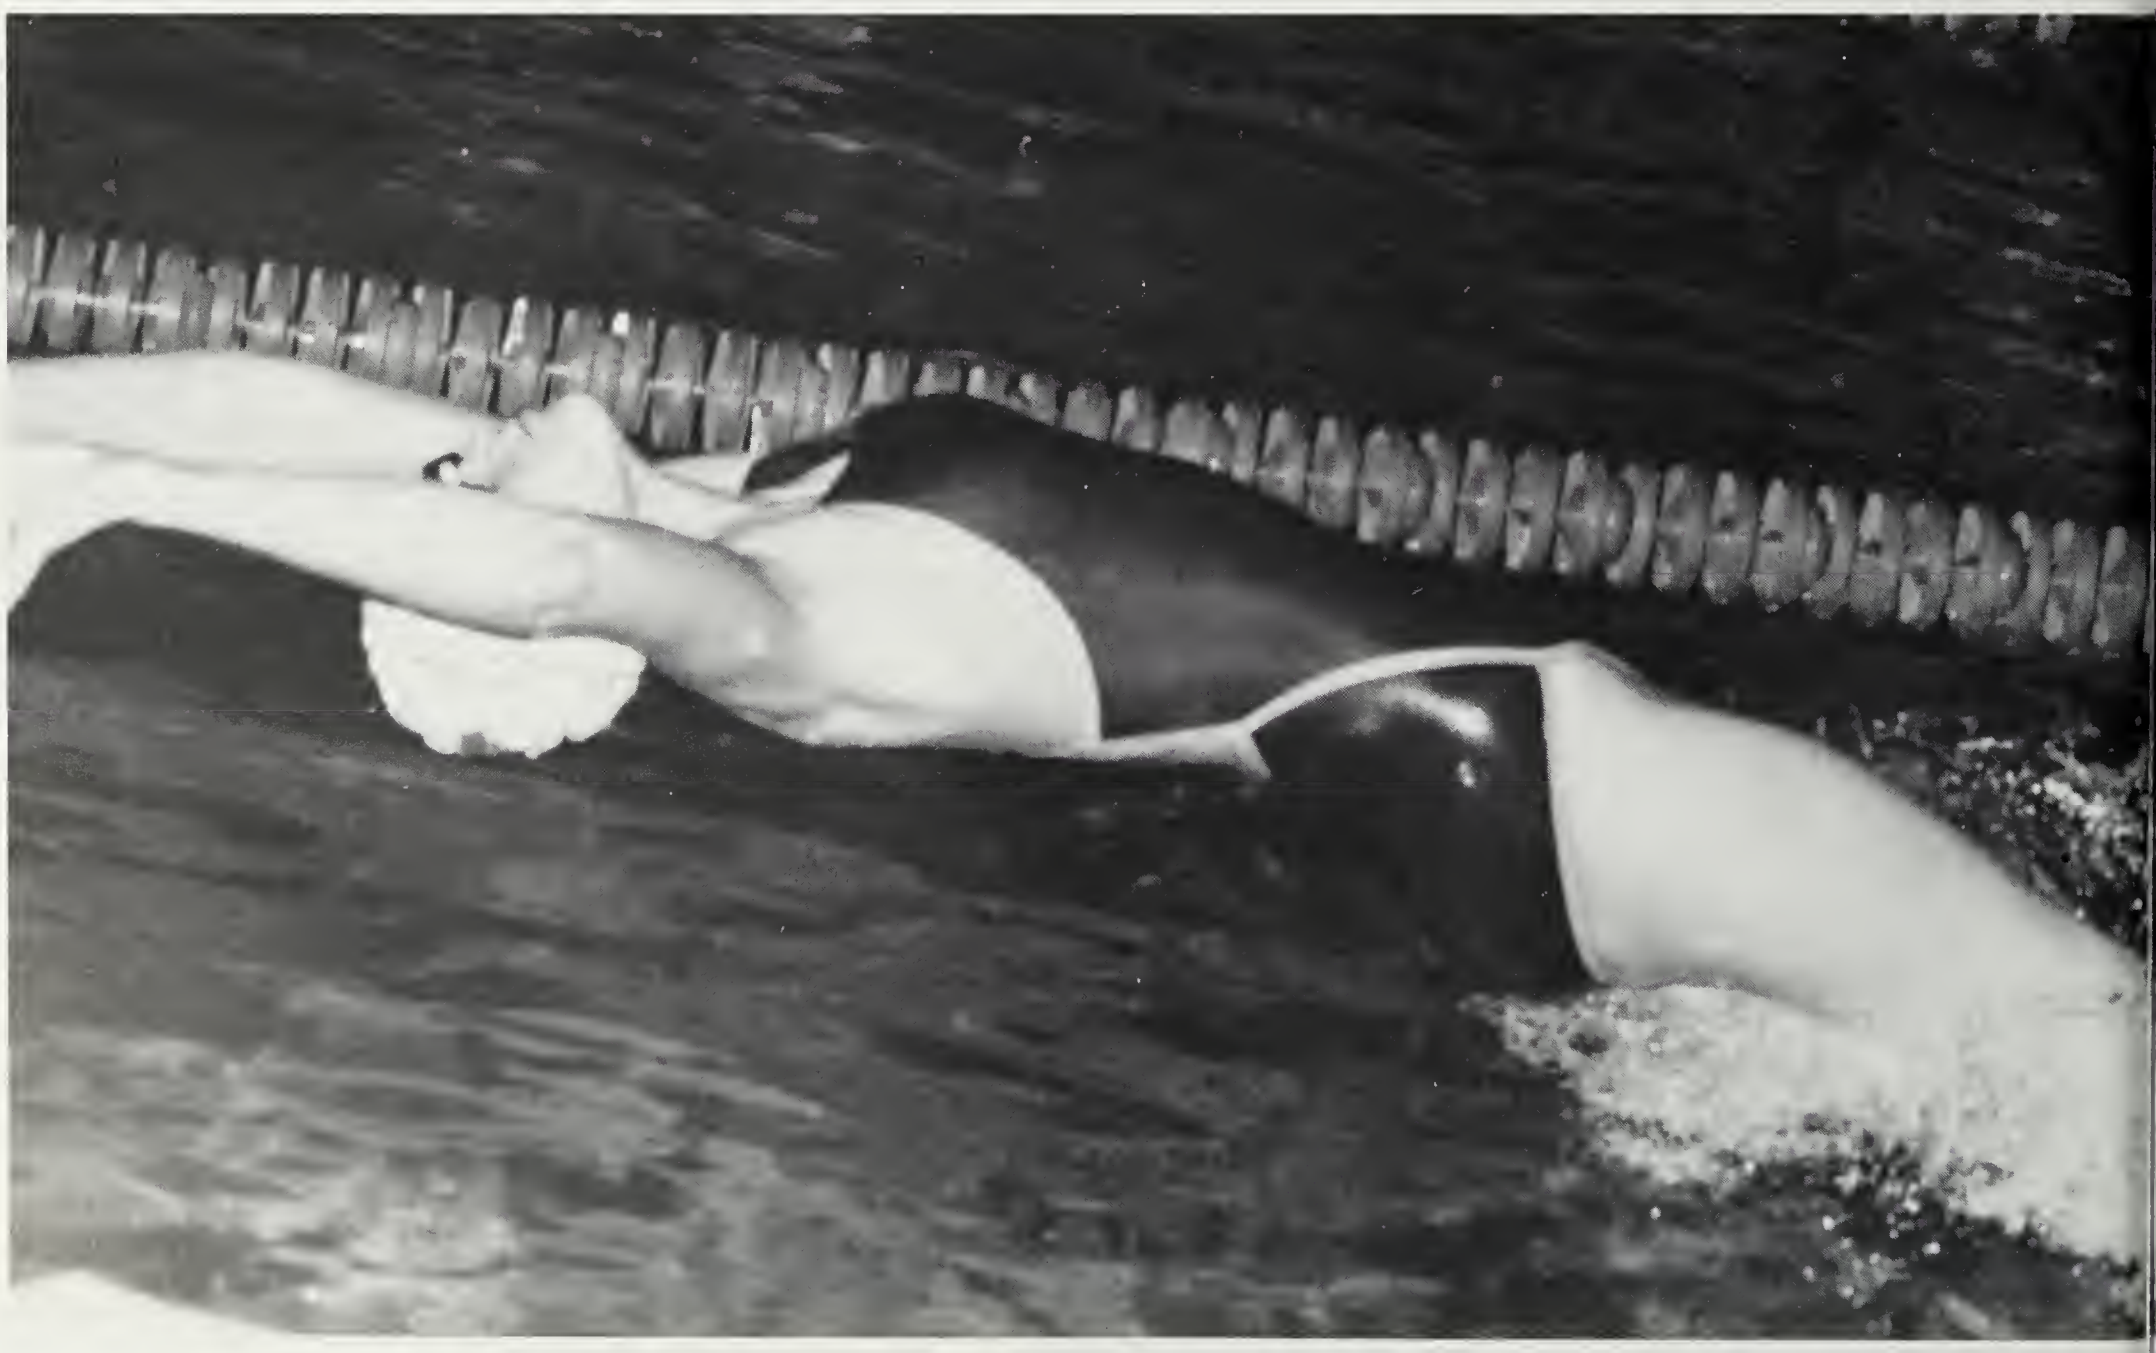
Standing Out In A Crowd

The 1989-90 Swim team possessed several individual standouts — seniors Alexandria Fridley, Curtis Powell, and Cary Loser; and junior Breea Plank. However, this year's most memorable standout came the result of a team effort. In years past our swim team hasn't quite been able to achieve their goal — to sink the Hampton Crabbers. However, this year's "H_20 Bruins" broke the trend as they brought home a glorious victory over the Crabbers — and it felt GREAT!! The feeling of team pride obtained from this win lead the swimmers to hope for a "500 season" where they would break even with a record of 8 and 8.

A reason for this year's great success might lie in the new coaching staff. With head coach Tom Ripperger and new assistant coach, Mr. Griffin, the team had been pushed to greater heights of skill. "He (the coach) keeps you from slacking off," says senior team co-captain Cary Loser. A swimmer must take every set seriously to build up his endurance and to stay at top-grade performance levels.

So, having withstood the rough daily routines impressed upon them by their coaches, the 1989-90 Bethel Swim team exhibited sincere dedication to their sport and were able to accomplish their goal — to sink the Hampton Crabbers and sink 'em DEEP!!

Going Under Senior Curtis Powell takes a deep breath as he prepares to submerge while breast stroking his way to a hopeful first place.



Prepare to Meet Your Doom! Cary loser, a senior, announces his entrance into the water with a determined-looking feace, letting everyone know he plans to win this one.

Flying High Junior Kendrick Presgraves goes to tremendous height to perform this dive to perfection. Does he do it?

RESTLING

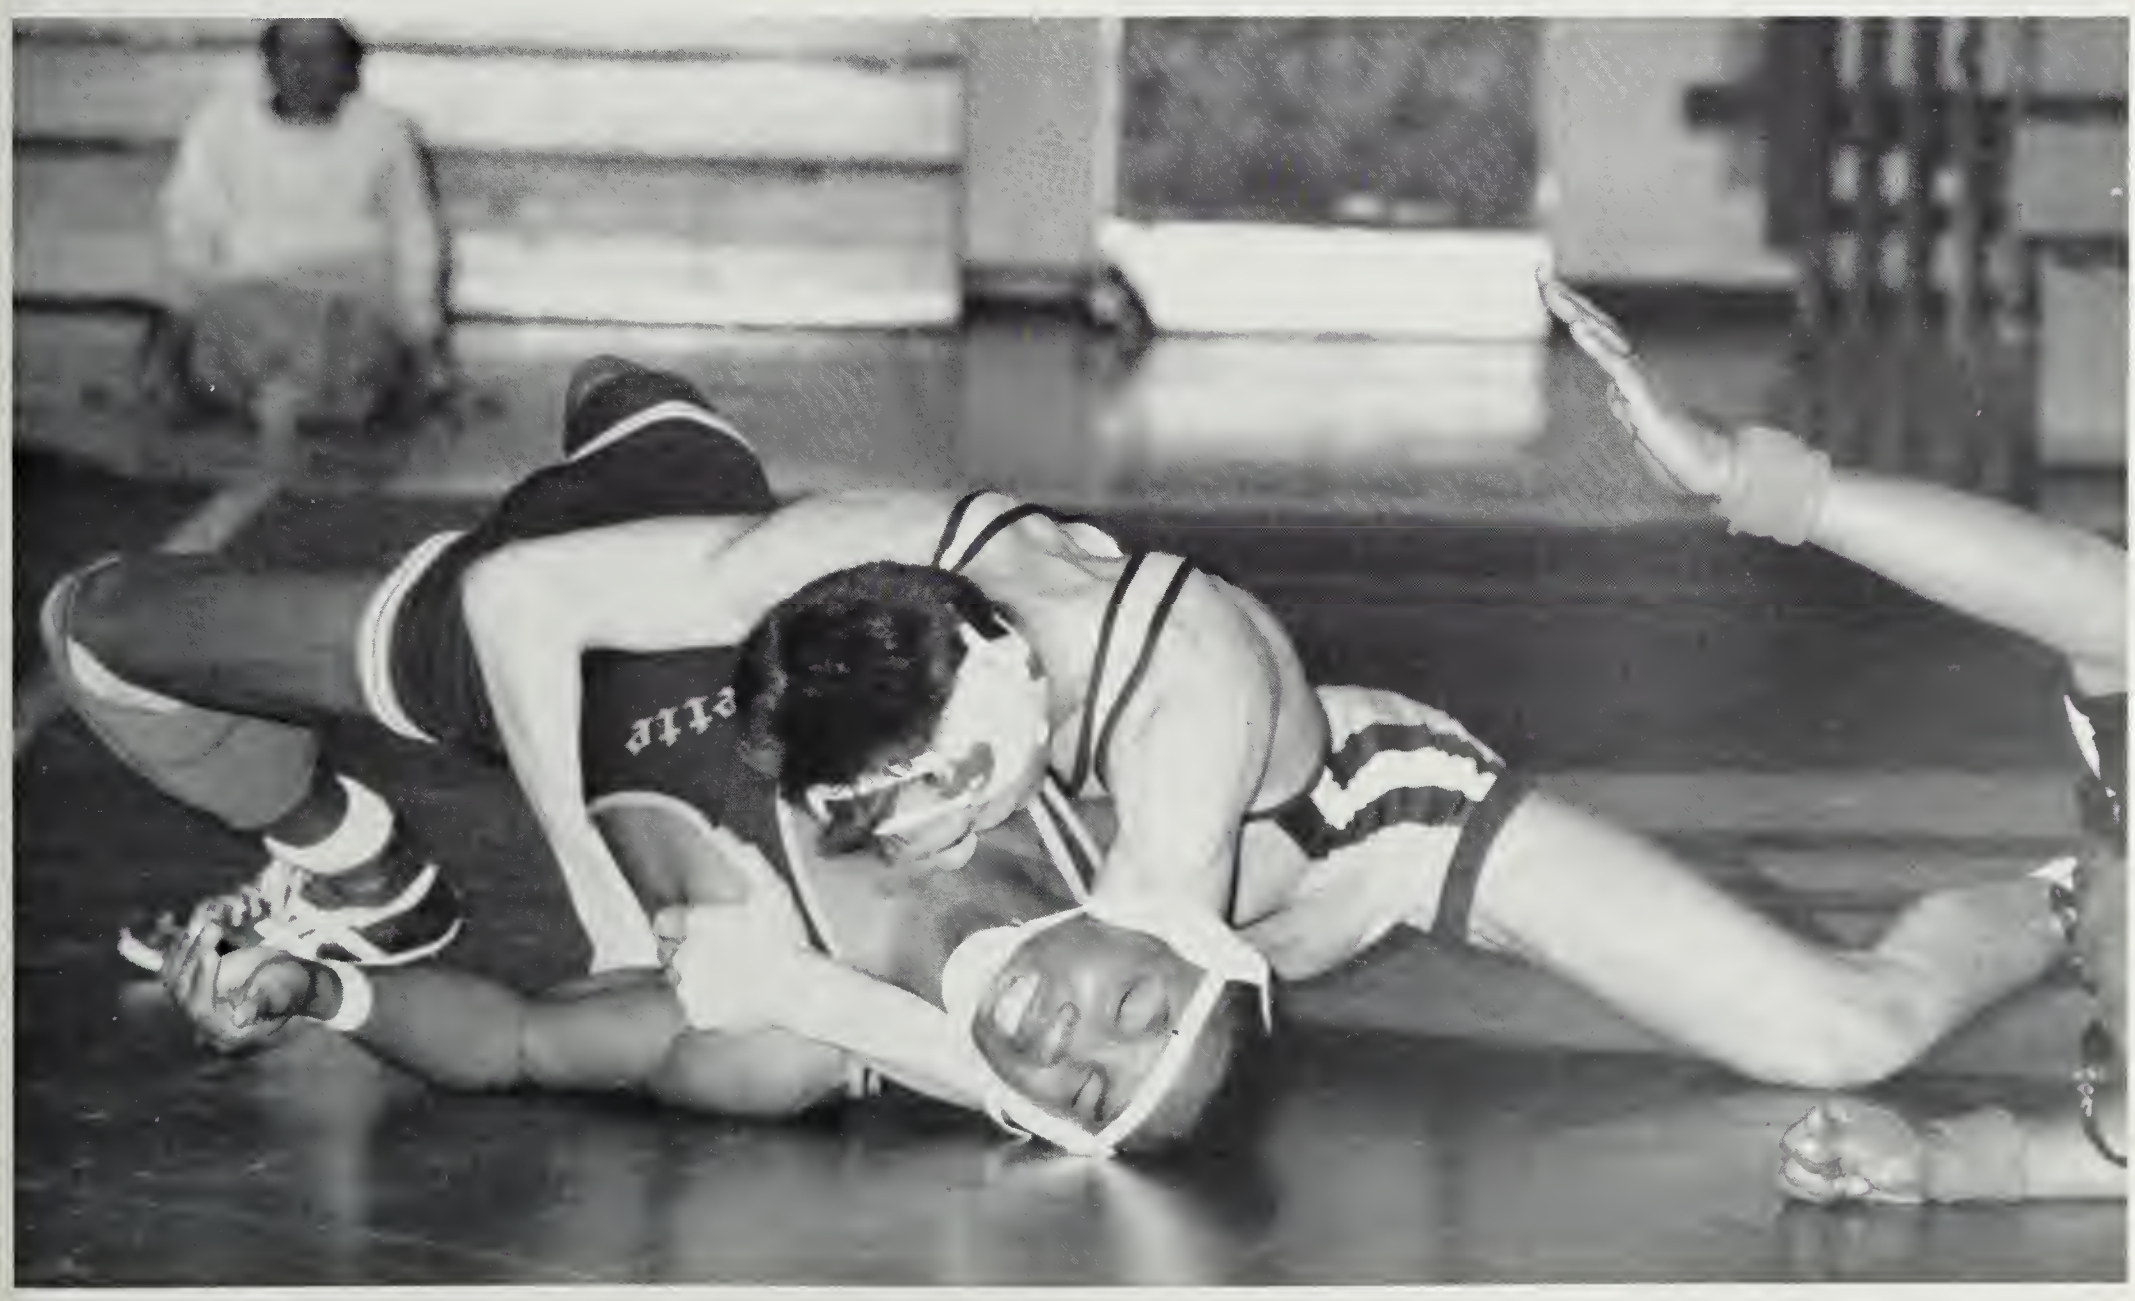
Getting Down

Pin Him! This is just one sound that you will hear when you attend a Bethel wrestling meet. Bethel's team works hard to achieve a strong and winning team. Wrestling is more or less one of the most challenging sports. Wrestling is a sport of both mental and physical ability. The wrestler must have great physical strength. When he is matched with someone of his same weight, it is a match of strength that decides who will have the upperhand. The wrestler must be, throughout the season, in the best physical condition.

Mental ability plays a big role in the sport of wrestling. If a wrestler cannot mentally establish confidence, trouble will occur. Bethel's wrestlers are taught to keep thinking at all times. To keep confidence and determination will play a large part in the outcome. "Keeping it all together is a big key," according to Coach Charles. It is easy to give up, that's why determination and hard, competitive practices are important. To meet your opponent, a wrestler must learn through matches, teammates matches, and practice.

From now on when you think of wrestling — naturally Bethel wrestling, don't be deceived. It is not all "pins and fun"

Let me shake your hand! Coach Charles congratulates Scott Conley on a great victory.



Down and Out. Senior Bobby York has his Layfette opponent in a compromising position.

GIRL'S BASKETBALL

On The Court

The 1989-90 season for the Bruin girls has been a challenge. Just when you think it's over, they come back and surprise us with a win. Our girls have had a real up-and-down season. Although the girls have had their share of losses, they came back strong in every game. They worked hard to gain aspect after every loss. They did not let losses hold them down.

Our girls have known the agony of defeat and the thrill of victory. They seem to enjoy the victory more, but the agony has not crushed their dreams. They have tried hard to put losses in the past and get on with the future. The 89-90 season may not be the best in history for the Bruin girl's basketball team, but the time and effort of the players is something to compliment. They have really succeeded at keeping a positive attitude and always staying determined to outshine opposition.

No Way! Victoria Wagaman dribbles away from the defense of the opposition.

Listen.
Coach Bailey gives Damon Wallace some inside tips before going on to the court.

ON our Own.
Bethel players Peter Barner, Damon Wallace, Corey Stewart, and Marcus Banks play defensively against Denbigh.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

Coach Bailey gives him the signal. He goes in for the point. WHOOSH! That was definitely a slam. The Bethel cheering stands go wild. The other team walks off the court defeated. Every one of the Bethel players suddenly feels the sensation of victory.

To the Bethel fans this is a surprise. During the 89-90 season the Varsity players have struggled drastically for a win. Although the effort and dedication of the players has been great the victories have not been so easy. Low scoring and tough competition have been the key problems. But winning isn't everything.

With players like Peter Barner, Corey Stewart, and others the Bethel team can not be overlooked. The ability of Bethel players has taken many years of work and determination to achieve the varsity spot. The effort and preparation that these players have made should out shine the defeats themselves.

But what is a win? A win in the eyes of the press is, a competition, on the court struggle of numerical gain. To the spectators it is the effort and determination the players display in the process of a win. To the players a win isn't the same as a "press" win or a spectator win but an all out effort on their part.

AH ELBOW?
No, not just any elbow, but senior Corey Stewart's and he's not going to lose this point that easily.

U. BASKETBALL

Going For It All

As the ball gets passed inbound, the ball-handler dribbles around until the clock runs out and the game ends. This closes out another win for the J.V. Basketball Team.

Those that play for the basketball team have to be able to play under pressure and be a team player. The people who are able to do these things and can make the cuts at tryouts will then make the team. From then on players have to build up their strength and endurance. This has to be done because of the constant running up and down the basketball court.

The 1989 J.V. basketball team finished the season with a respectable 7-9 record. This doesn't seem to bother head coach Taylor because he said that he feels good about what the team accomplished since alot of the players did not have much experience in playing organized basketball.

As this years team begins play, hopes are high for a successful season. So, everybody come out and support the J.V. Basketball team and wish the future varsity players well.

UTDOOR TRACK

Foreseeing The Future

What will happen? Who will win? Right not any guess as to how the 1989-90 Track and Field season will end is as good as yesterday's news, yet, somehow the team seems to know. "This year's team has possibly the best chance for the State Championship of any of the Bethel Outdoor teams in recent years, "states 11th-grade indoor runner Austin Rammel. Looking back at last year it seems this year's outdoor team has their work cut out for them if they wish to top the 1988-89 season, a season containing many outstanding participants. Just to name a few, there are the runners composing our strongly competitive mile-relay teams — Tyrone Melvin, Craig Rainey, Michael Cherry, and Robbie Robinson for the boys and Karen Tucker, Khadijah Abdul-Musawi, and Patti Keefe for the girls. Many of last year's most skillful competitors have graduated. However, with the fresh hope and new talent of the novice freshmen, combined with the competent experience of returning underclassmen, the loss of the former team members shouldn't be an impairment to this year's success. It is with such good wishes and high expections that Bethel Outdoor Track and Field athletes look forward to the up-and-coming season.

Leaping Lizzards!! Junior Mike Mixon is flying high as he leaps over the run-way to land far and deep into the sand pit.

Mmmmmuuhh! Whew!! What a face!! Senior Pam Guerette gives a Bruin growl as she sends her shotput hurtling across the Bethel field.

INDOOR TRACK
Leading The Way

The 1989-90 Indoor Track season was one of excitement. With seniors Steve Hodges, Craig Rainey, and Brian Gwaltney leading the way for the boys, they were able to excell above the rest. Our guys composed one of the best 880- and mile-relay teams in the state. Not willing to be outshone, the lady Bruins had their own stars — sophomore Janelle Johnson; senior Khadijah Abdul-Musawi; freshman Nakisha Outlaw; and senior Cynthia Temple. All of thse girls participated in the 880- and mile-relays, working together to create an outstanding performance. Although Janelle Johonson was an active member of the girls' relays, she went on to do her own thing in the 55- and 300-meter dashes.

Turning to the field events Janelle Johnson's talent is seen once again in the longjump, an event in which she shared the spotlight with boys' captain, senior, Steve Hodges.

"Of the other recent Indoor Track and Field teams, the 1989-90 team had the greatest potential to win the state championship," says junior Austin Rammel who also believes this potential will carry through to the up-and-coming Outdoor season as well.

What a Form!! Eric Hill exhibits beautiful form finishing strong to boost Bethel's team score.

Up, Up, and Away!! Senior Juan Shackleford jumps into action as he prepares to leap over the highjump crossbar.

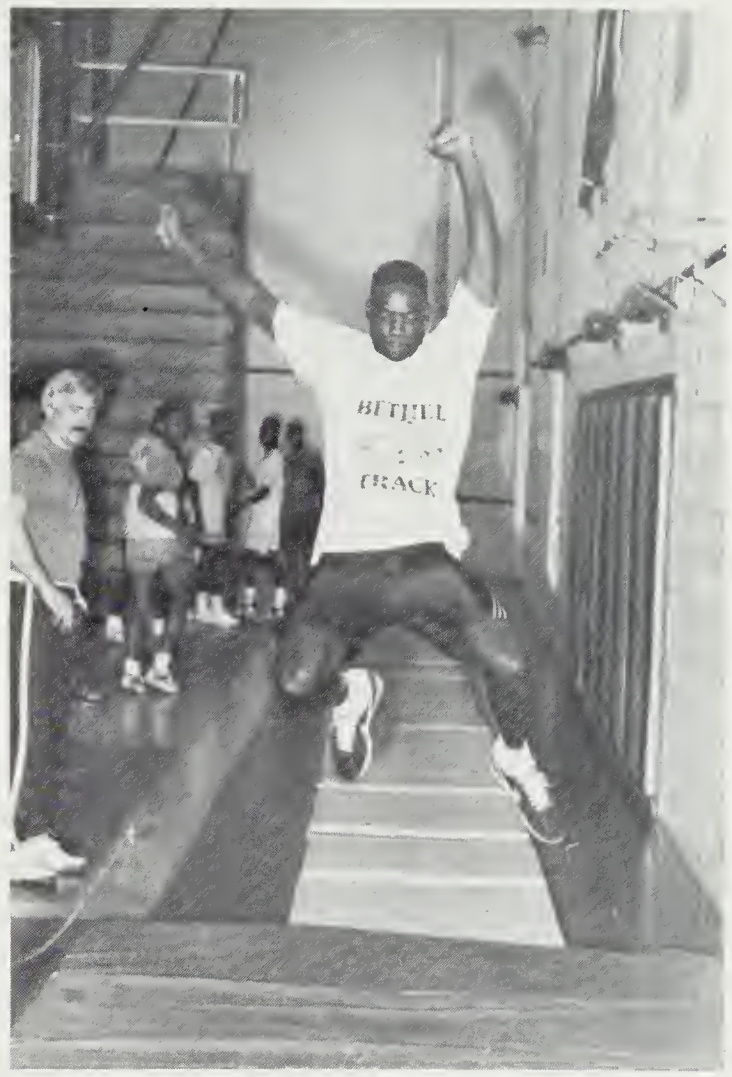
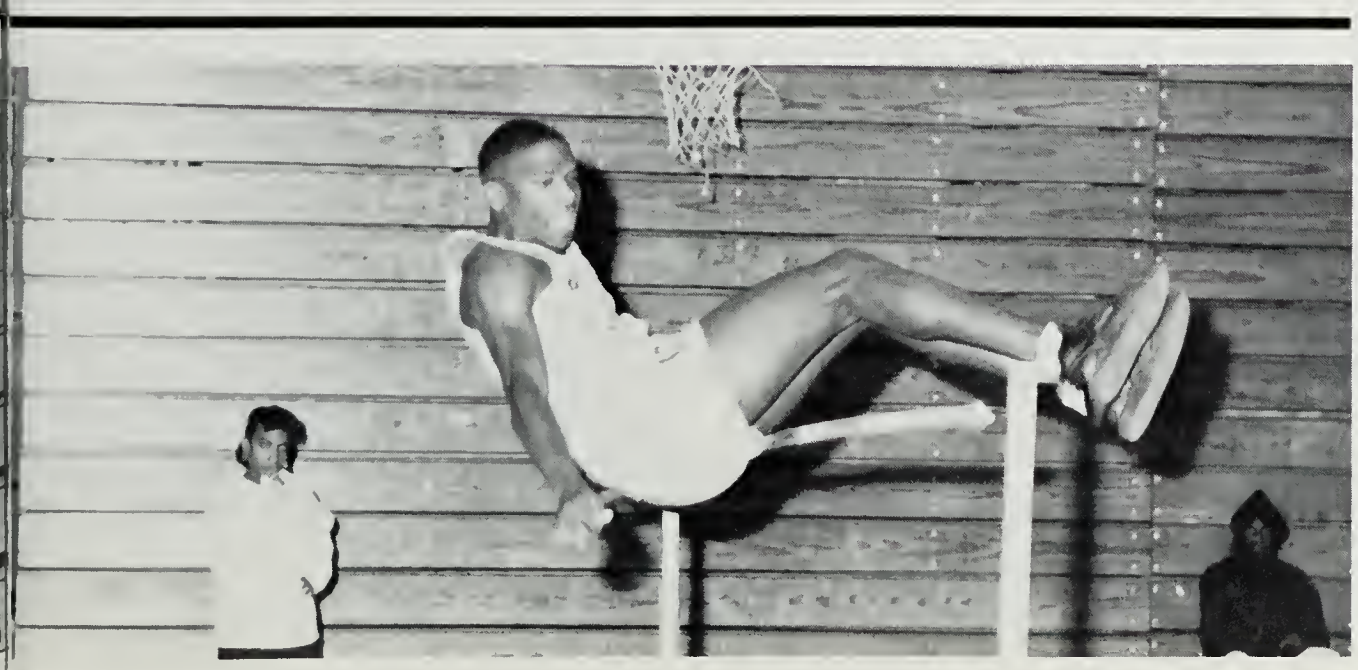
Doin' A Dance Senior team captain Steve Hodges moves to his own rhythm as he descends from the longjump.



Arrrrrgh!!! After "tossing" his shot across the Bethel gym, Vincent uses the Bruin scare tactics to frighten his competitors.



Hangin' Around Junior Mike Cherry hangs tough over the highjump crossbar, all the while smiling his Bruin spirit.

GYMNASTICS

Coming Back

Keep smiling.

Did you know we had a gymnastics team? For many years the gymnastics team was never mentioned, well now they should. This year the gymnastics team is shining bright proving to all the other high schools in Hampton that Bethel is expanding, from golf to gymnastics.

The gymnastics team this year is coached by Mrs. Mansfield and assistant coach, Ms. Kathy Routten, from Christopher Newport College. One good thing about the gymnastics program is that it involves upcoming Bruins. Eighth graders are welcomed to join the team. This year the team has one eighth grader, Kelly Marshall, from Eaton Middle School.

Unlike last year the gymnastics team defeated Warwick and Northampton County, and lost to Denbigh, Hampton, and Norfolk Academy. Whether the team came out first or last shouldn't matter, what matters is that the team is just another piece of our Bethel puzzle.

SOCCER For Kicks

To most people soccer is a sport that can very well be forgotten, but for those that play this is out of the question. Soccer players have to work long and hard to be able to play their positions the way that is needed. This takes alot of training.

Most people have to start preparing for a soccer season months earlier by running and building up their strength and endurance since running is a big part of a match. Once practice starts strategies and game plans can be worked on so that everyone knows what to do when playing. Also the members of the team start to learn about each other and their weaknesses so they will know what to expect during the course of a season.

When asked about the best part of the season, Cary Loser said, "It would either be beating Denbigh in the Fort Eustis tournament or the win that we got against Phoebus. They were both good times."

The team finished the season with a 1-7 record in the penninsula district, but they finished strong with a 6-9 overall record.

OFTBALL

Double play attempt.
Senior, Kerstein McVicker, a shortstop, throws to second to attempt a double play.

Standing on the mound she quietly turns to see if her players are ready for the pitch, she turns, winds up her arm, and there goes that softball right over the plate. The batter swings. "STRIKE THREE, You're out!" cries the umpire. The defeated team slowly congratulates the Bethel players coming off the field. That's what your softball team is going to look like this year. They are very busy practicing after shool to polish up those edges that need to shine, and in the end they'll shine like never before.

The softball coach is Mr. Estep. The 1988-89 School year Coach Estep's first year coaching softball at Bethel. He states that coaching at Bethel "was a very rewarding experience."

He offers a great deal of encouragement to the team. Mr. Estep is a dedicated, tough coach, but he still maintains a sense of humor. When asked about the overall 1988-89 season, he stated, "The season was in most part a success. Lack of experience — no skill — hurt many positions." He feels the "highlight of the year was having a winning season." The final outcome being eight wins and seven losses.

Our present-season newcomers will hopefully lead Bethel to another winning season possibly by a larger margin. In the past seven years of Bethel softball, we have never had a losing season. With the help of senior captains Jennifer Hubble and Kerstein McVicker we hope to make the 1989-90 season a BIG success.

VARSITY BASEBALL

Hit And Run

It seemed just like a script from a Hollywood movie. An early season game against the favored Warwick. The Bruins came out and in the first inning 10 runs scored including four home runs. They went on to win the game by a score of 13-0. This was just one of many memorable moments during the 1989 baseball season.

Baseball is a sport involving lots of precision of accuracy. Just one stop too many can let a ball get by that would have been the winning out. In another case a pitch may be thrown just a bit outside for the fourth ball that will walk the winning run in. Baseball players also have to train since speed and power are a virtue. Coach Bouchard says that the team didn't do as well as expected because the offense didn't produce like it should have. Despite that he feels that the team had a fairly good year finishing with a 7-10 record, 4th in the district. He also says that he has high hopes for the upcoming season because of the new crop of players.

U BASEBALL

An All-Star Performance

When you think of our JV baseball team of last year, what do you think of? Of course, their winning season is first. Our team finished first in district with only two loses. "Our boys did a great job in concentrating on a winning season," according to Coach Barlow. The team worked especially hard holding off tough competition. Their performance took many hours of practice for perfection — resulting in a great outcome.

Too many times JV players' performances are overlooked. The record and outstanding performance of this JV team absolutely cannot be overlooked. The record itself, "holds water" not to mention the addition of a great performance.

Before a JV team even takes the field many obstacles have to be overcame. First there are the two or three weeks of conditioning that starts everything. They must run, warm-up, and practice catching and hitting. A baseball player must be in the best physical condition at all times.

"Tryouts are a key time," said junior, Jeff Jordan. During tryouts a player must really shine. He must play at his best to prove his ability. Throughout tryouts, there is no time for slacking-off, he must always be on top of everything.

The work doesn't end with tryouts, in fact it is just the beginning. This takes many hours of practice in preparation to play. A baseball player cannot stop thinking at any time. Although the JV teams are sometimes associated with the future generation of Varsity players, last years' JV can stand in a class all by itself. Hard work and dedication does pay off, as proved by Bethels' 88-89 JV baseball team.

ORGANIZATIONS

Ranging from Ecology to Drama and from Model UN to the Yearbook Staff, organizations help us keep it all together at Bethel High. Organizations offer wide variety, so everyone fits in. Some organizations reach beyond the limits of Bethel High, improving the environment and the community. Other organizations encourage good relationships with other schools. Although individual in interests and goals each organization helps us all come closer together.
